How to Satisfy the OIG's Requirements for Fraud and Abuse Compliance Training

A 90-Minute Lunch & Learn Audio Conference
by
Elizabeth E. Hogue, Esq.

Wednesday, August 7, 2019
12:00 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. Central Time

Encore: August 14, 2019 (Recorded playback available for 24 hours)

Audio-Conference Description
The OIG requires home care providers of all types must provide effective training on fraud and abuse compliance for employees early in their employment and on at least an annual basis thereafter. Let us help you satisfy these requirements by participating in this teleconference! Whether you are a home health agency, hospice, HME company or private duty agency, gather your staff members together for this teleconference to satisfy the OIG's requirements. Participants will learn about two major types of fraud and abuse: false claims and kickbacks. Practical examples in the home care industry will be emphasized with concrete guidance about what to do about possible violations.   The teleconference will also focus on how employees should raise concerns about possible fraudulent conduct internally before they even consider going outside the company. If your staff can't get together on August 7th or you want to use this teleconference during orientation programs for new employees, consider ordering a CD that is a recording of the teleconference and includes all handouts.

About the Speaker:
Elizabeth Hogue is an attorney in private practice with extensive experience in health care. Prior to becoming an attorney, she was employed as a personnel manager by a Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan. She studied at the University of Maryland School of Law, concentrating in health law, and gained considerable clinical experience, course work, and employment experience in this area. Following her admission to the Bar, she developed an active practice in health law. She represents clients all over the country. Her clients are professional associations, managed care providers, and institutional health care providers; including hospitals, long-term care facilities, home health agencies, durable medical equipment companies, and hospices. Ms. Hogue gives numerous presentations each year on health-related topics. Her articles are regularly included in trade association publications and other journals. Ms. Hogue is a member of the American Health Lawyers Association.

How it works:
Complete the Registration Form for your agency and return to HCLA. Registered locations will receive an e-mail confirmation two days prior to the teleconference with instructions on how to join the audio conference, access handouts, additional resources, etc. Participate in the live, interactive Q&A session via your telephone.

PLEASE NOTE: Registration fees are based on one phone connection; multiple site participation from your agency will be charged a separate registration fee for each.
