Castleton Corners Veterinarian Receives Award

Dr. Janet Carini of the Rutland Veterinary Clinic at Castleton Corners is the 2018 recipient of the Vermont Veterinary Medical Association's Dave Walker Award.

Not an annual recognition, the Dave Walker Award is offered when the "activities, energy, and contributions of a single Vermont veterinarian selflessly and continuously, year after year, go above and beyond the call of duty", according to the association.

The award was presented to Carini by the association during its recent summer meeting in Burlington.

Dr. David Walker was a Vermont veterinarian who was a strong advocate for animal health, agriculture, as well as the well-being of veterinarians themselves, association officials said.

Carini grew up on a farm in West Rutland, graduated from Michigan State University College of Veterinary Medicine in 1985 and returned to Vermont to open her own clinic in Castleton, VT. The VVMA's highest honor was given to Carini for her commitment to animal welfare, animal cruelty investigations, animal disaster relief, and to the Rutland County Humane Society. Dr. Carini's volunteer leadership has spanned over 30 years. Her tireless drive and dedication have never waned, and she continues to make improvements for animal welfare in Vermont.
